RAILS TO TRAILS

Naturalists aim to develop railway corridor

by Russ Duhaime

A strong driving force is the only element missing in the dream of developing a trail out of Haliburton's abandoned railway corridor.

The Haliburton Highlands Field Naturalists, however, are aiming to change this, by adding their support to those who envision a multi-use trail running from Kinmount to Haliburton village.

The fledgling club has established a committee to work together with others in a bid to develop the county-owned land. For fear of sending out the wrong message, however, the club will not be taking the leading role in the initiative.

The new committee comes in response to a presentation by a member of the Kawartha Rails To Trails Association, last Thursday.

Chris Mather, who is actively promoting the creation of a central Ontario Rails To Trails network, was the guest speaker at the Field Naturalists' meeting last Thursday at the Bonnie View Inn. He outlined his extensive work and research in this regard and detailed a few of the successes and failures experienced in other parts of the province.

"You people are in an enviable position," he said. Some people have fought strong, dogged, campaigns and have lost out to competing interests.

In Haliburton County, the opposition to the corridor's development is mild. The only reason it is yet undeveloped is because "there is no apparent public champion." He suggested that the Field Naturalists could take on this project and be the driving force behind the development of a trail.

Most rail trails have been developed in response to community-based initiatives, he said. These public groups work in co-operation with the various levels of government to secure the necessary funding and iron out the inherent prob-

'There is no apparent public champion,' says Chris Mather. He encouraged the field naturalists to take up the challenge.

Hockey brawls bring stiff penalties

by Andy Holloway

Haliburton high school officials wasted no time in setting down new rules for their hockey team after an on-ice brawl spilled into the stands last Wednesday night.

The brawl broke out with five minutes left in the third period of a game between the Haliburton Highlands Redmen and the Kenner Rams.

As a result, coach Ron Yake and principal Gary Brohman decided to inflict stiffer penalties on Redmen who get involved in fights on the ice. Yake said starting with their game tonight (Monday) any Redmen receiving a fighting major will be given an automatic five-game suspension. If, upon returning, the player gets involved in another fight, he is gone for the rest of the season.

Current Kawartha League rules call for an automatic one-game suspension for fighting and a five-game suspension if a player receives a match penalty.

If the new rules had been in place before last Wednesday, six Redmen players - Peter Brohman, Mark and Kevin Morissette, Peter Van Leeuwen, Jeff Black and Jackie Morrison - would be facing long-term suspensions instead of missing just one game. Four Rams were also given suspensions by the league.

"We don't think that the rules of the league are strict enough. First-time fighting is only a one-game suspension and if in high school hockey we're trying to put down the idea of fighting then it should be stricter for the first time because the existing penalty is just a slap on the wrist," said Yake.

The new rules, which apply only to the Redmen, are tougher but Yake said a message has to be sent that the player's

A bit of rain is no bother when you have Mickey for protection. Smiling faces and umbrellas were all the rage in Minden during Saturday afternoon's Santa Claus parade. Hundreds of people turned out early to get the choice spots along the parade route. Most found shelter beneath storefront canopies or inside vehicles parked along Main Street. Many elaborate floats accompanied by two marching bands made the wait worth while.

With much foresight, Haliburton County Council bought the 100-foot-wide ribbon of land from the railway about five years ago. With limited funds, however, the corridor's potential has remained untapped.

Except for the hundreds of snowmobiles that ply the corridor each winter, the property sees very little use. According to County Engineer Dave Valentine, the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association has, by default, assumed management of the corridor.

If not for the HCSA's ongoing maintenance, many sections of the corridor's bed would now be washed out by spring flooding. The club, which uses the corridor as part of its extensive network of trails, regularly repairs the gravel bed and maintains the two large bridges.

Despite this, snowmobilers took a whipping from certain members of the field naturalist club Thursday. Michael Collins, in particular, was critical of snowmobilers, who he said have "terrorized" adjacent property owners.

In contrast, Godfrey Tyler said snowmobilers are the least of his worries. Tyler, who owns property on both sides of the line, said snowmobilers tend to stay to the corridor. Hikers, on the other hand, tend to be more nosey, he said. "Snowmobilers have cleaned up their act a lot," said Tyler. "They're some of our least hassles now."

The apparent conflict between users is one of the key wrinkles that must be ironed out if this is to become a multi-use trail. In addition to snowmobiling, the trail has the potential of becoming a public route for hiking, cycling, horseback riding and sled dog racing.

Valentine notes that the corridor is 100 feet wide. Therefore, the possibility exists for parallel trails for the various users. The actual bed, however, is only about 30 feet wide, which means considerable work is necessary for this to happen.

Currently, the county has no plans to dispose of the land. Mather, however, says people should not rely on this remaining unchanged. Unless someone takes the bull by the horns, he said, "you run the risk of the county losing its resolve of continuing to own it."

"This is a once in a lifetime — once in forever — opportunity," said Mather. As soon as one piece of the corridor is turned over to an adjoining property owner, the continuity of the trail is broken.

McRae hopes to lead Liberal campaign

by Andy Holloway

Victoria County's warden has declared her intention to seek the Liberal nomination for the upcoming provincial by-election.

If Sharon McCrae wins, it will set up an interesting battle of the wardens. She would be facing Haliburton County Warden Chris Hodgson who was nominated as the Progressive Conservative candidate two weeks ago. The NDP has not announced when the by-election will take place, nor has a candidate stepped forward for the local nomination.

With the federal Liberal sweep of Ontario some may consider a by-election right now a foregone conclusion, but McCrae is not one of those people. She says the federal job promises will do little, if anything, for the provincial Liberals and the local Tories are not dead, as witnessed by the 1,400 people who showed up at their nomination meeting.

"I think there will be a challenge for any party coming in because the economy is so poor and we need a workable solution quickly," McCrae says.

She does, however, criticize the governing NDP for implementing policies that will harm small business, agriculture and tourism in rural ridings.

Victoria-Haliburton "has been without an MPP since Dennis Drainville resigned in early September, and McCrae says the area has never had a "great opportunity" to give its point of view to the province because Drainville lacked experience and had a lack of "liaisoning with the local representatives, ie. the people." This has allowed the NDP government to do what it wants without studying the financial impact of its programs on rural areas like Victoria and Haliburton Counties.

Victoria County Warden Sharon McCrae hopes to represent Liberals in a provincial by-election in this riding.

"There have to be checks and balances and the NDP's proposals are centered around special interest groups. There is a need to counteract that with some local accountability.

"I see a real need for municipal experience to be put to good use at a provincial level in a rural riding like this."

McCrae has been warden of Victoria County for the past two years. She is the only person in the past 100 years to be elected warden for two years in a row. She has also been the Reeve of Ops Township since 1988 and has served on Ops council since 1978.

For the past eight years McCrae has served on the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit and as the local representative on the Association of Local Official Health Agencies Board. She is also a member of the Victoria County Disaster Trust Fund.

McCrae started in politics after moving to Ops Township in 1973. Trained as a teacher, McCrae soon got involved in the local recreation committee and after her 12-year-old daughter was born politics became her career.

"The community was very supportive of recreation and was so warm you wanted to give something back to it so I was involved with the recreation committee. I then ran for council and won and I got hooked I guess," McCrae says.

She says her daughter and husband are both very supportive of her political ambitions and of her decision to run for the Liberal nomination. Despite living in Reaboro, McCrae says she has made many friends among the citizens of Haliburton County while visiting her parents at Paudash Lake in Cardiff Township.

Both Haliburton and Victoria depend on tourism and agriculture (McCrae includes fishing and forestry in her use of the term "agriculture") and says that without strong representation this riding can be overlooked.

The fact that all three major parties have opened their main offices to concerns of the residents of this riding, and the fact that Manvers Township is partly in Durham East so MPP Gord Mills can represent some of Victoria County's concerns, is not enough.

The Liberals have yet to set a date for their nomination meeting and McCrae is the only declared candidate so far, although she expects some were waiting for her to announce her candidacy first before entering themselves.

Board downscales computer initiative

by Russ Duhaime

The high school's new computer lab will be outfitted with the most up-to-date equipment, but it will not get as many terminals as originally planned.

The school board changed its tack last week and opted to replace its outdated ICONs with new 486DX computers.

The board had initially planned to spend its $100,000 computer budget on a mixture of 486 and 386 machines. However, by the time tenders were opened Tuesday, the computer committee had decided against the obsolete 386 computers.

The cost of opting for the better equipment, however, means the school will be getting 15 fewer computers than originally planned.

The board had planned to create two computer labs in the school, each housing 20 terminals. However, the revised plan means that only one new lab is possible.

Trustee Tim Casey expressed disappointment in the plan. While he was not against purchasing the better equipment, he said he had hoped the computer initiative would serve more students. As it stands, only 20 per cent of the students will have a chance to work with the new equipment.

Although the old equipment is considered to be obsolete, Dale Robinson says none of it is being trashed. The Superintendent of Schools says the ICONs, which are still useful for word processing, will be moved to another room where students will have access to them.

All told, Robinson says there will be an extra 17 computers for use in the school.

Community cops open for business in Kinmount

by Jerry Grozelle

Fifty people crowded the old Somerville Township office in Kinmount on November 17 to participate in the official opening of the Community Policing Office.

Ontario Provincial Police representatives included Inspector Keith Buxton of District 8 Headquarters in Peterborough, Staff Sergeant Peter Alexander, Sergeant Al DeChamp and Constable Dave Fletcher of the Coboconk Detachment and Staff Sergeant Dennis Edlington of the Minden Detachment.

Somerville Reeve John Huke welcomed those in attendance and commended everyone who was involved in making the Community Policing Office in Kinmount a reality.

Support for the Community Policing Office in Kinmount has been overwhelming, as demonstrated by the turnout for Wednesday's official opening.

"I was really surprised at the turnout," Huke said. "It's usually just the organizers who show up for this sort of thing."

Inspector Buxton was also gratified by the number of people who showed an interest in the project, expressing his appreciation for the outstanding community effort. He said that in the past, the police's perception of the problems in places like Kinmount may not have been the same as the problems seen by the residents.

"It's the people who pay for policing in a community," Buxton said, "and they should have more say in how policing activities are carried out. I hope we can live up to your expectations."

Sergeant DeChamp explained that the Kinmount OPP office will be the centre of Coboconk's Zone 2. When officers are working in that Zone, they will use the office as their base for doing paper work, interviews and investigations.

DeChamp was also impressed with the attendance.

"The number of people who showed up is very unusual," he said.

"They have done a fantastic job in such a short time," DeChamp added. "We'll do our best to be there as often as possible."

Minden OPP officers will also be making some use of the Kinmount office, increasing the police presence in the village.

Staff Sergeant Dennis Edlington of the Minden OPP echoed the thoughts of the others when he commented on the "excellent turnout" and the admirable job that was done to spruce up the building.

"I certainly felt welcome," Edlington said. "Our officers will be going through Kinmount on a regular basis and we're looking forward to using the office. It's going to be a great little setup. It's great for us and great for the community... a win-win situation. I'm sure it will get a lot of use."

Representatives from the Legion, Lions and Civitan clubs were in attendance for the opening. Those organizations contributed to the project, providing financial support, labour and/or equipment. Local businesses also contributed with materials and labour for the project.

As Ted Wilkes (who was instrumental in getting the project off the ground) said: "Everybody, with the exception of the criminal element, is going to benefit."

Somerville Reeve John Huke had plenty of help in cutting the ribbon to mark the opening of Kinmount's Community Police office.

MEMBER ORDER OF THE GOLDEN RULE

Northern Network meetings will continue

by Jerry Grozelle

The success of the Northern Community Network's town hall meeting in Kinmount on November 17 has assured that the Network will continue its efforts to address the concerns of the member communities.

To that end, more town hall meetings will be held in 1994 to get input and directives from all areas of the municipalities concerned.

In the meantime, Network members will be assisting in the establishment of committees of community members to deal with the various concerns expressed at the town hall meeting in Kinmount.

Notably absent from the NCN meeting in Norland Thursday evening were the representatives from the Haliburton County member municipalities.

"One thing we have to do is establish if the Haliburton Reeves are still interested," Somerville Reeve John Huke suggested.

It was pointed out that the location of the meeting had been stated incorrectly in a newspaper article (not The Times) and that may have caused some confusion and explain why some members didn't show up.

Discussions turned to the town hall meeting in Kinmount.

Huke said that the grocery store is one thing that helps hold a community together. He added that the IGA in Kinmount had plans to move to a larger location in the village but the move was ultimately prevented because of the flood plain restrictions.

The banking issue in Kinmount is far from dead.

A committee has been set up to look into the possibility of setting up a Credit Union in Kinmount to take care of the community's banking needs.

The Network has also been in contact with Bank of Montreal officials. The B of M has opened an outlet in Woodville since the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce closed there. Response in that community has been very positive even though the Bank of Montreal outlet is only open a few hours a day. Woodville is a pilot project for the B of M and if it is as successful as it appears to be, the bank may be looking at other sites, such as Kinmount.

In an attempt to address concerns about water quality and fishing opportunities in the area, the Network plans to invite officials from the Ministry of Natural Resources to attend the next meeting to answer some questions.

Under-utilization of the Kinmount Fairgrounds was of concern to some.

The idea of putting artificial ice in the arena was deemed out of the question in terms of cost of installation and maintenance. There was a suggestion to encourage rollerblading as an alternative.

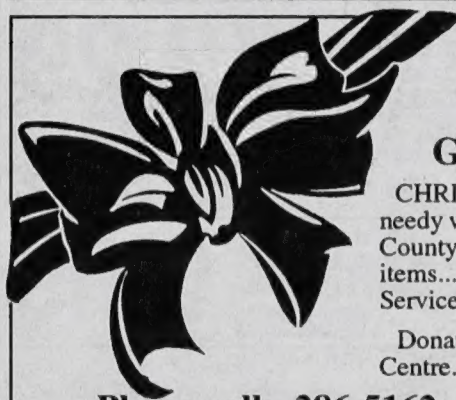

Timing is something that people are going to have to take into consideration when planning events at places such as the Kinmount Fairgrounds. Individuals or groups who have ideas for events that could bring tourists into the area should approach the Kinmount Fair Board several months in advance of the ideal time for their proposed event.

Reeve Huke pointed out that he often gets requests to attend functions on the same day or the day before they are to take place. Displaying his appointment calendar, he posed the question, is it any wonder he has to turn some of them down?

During his final meeting as chairman of the Haliburton County Board of Education Wally Bunn had the opportunity to present a plaque to three of the high school's outstanding students. Jonathan Bishop, Jesse Longworth and Jennifer Rogers each participated in the Ontario Student Leadership Course this past summer at a camp near Orillia. The students thanked the board for the opportunity to attend this course which develops leadership skills.

Although the Lions Club operates the arena and the other facilities are used occasionally, the actual fairgrounds see use primarily for the Kinmount Fair.

"It seems a shame that it's only being used for one week of the year," said Dianne Austin, who is the area's representative with the Victoria County Board of Education.

On the topic of schools, it was suggested that such things as organizing the annual Santa Claus Parade are more difficult without the participation of the public school children since the school in Kinmount closed.

"Without the school, there's no centre for it; no focus," said NCN Resource Group member Bruce Fleury.

"The school was the heart of the community," Galway-Cavendish Councillor Peter Franzen added.

Another problem that was discussed was the fact that the municipalities within the NCN membership are not close enough to the larger centres to attract people who are willing to settle here and commute to work.

Victoria County's apparent lack of concern for the lower populated northern townships

It seems a shame that it's only being used for one week of the year"
--Dianne Austin

prompted Dalton Township Reeve Harold Bruce to comment: "People don't realize how much the northern townships contribute to the southern townships and get no return for it. In most cases it is the haves that give to the have-nots to balance things out but in this case it is the have-nots who are supporting the haves."

"We have the same problem in Galway-Cavendish with Peterborough County," Councillor Franzen lamented.

It was suggested that the County Councils and the Boards of Education need more backbone.

"They need to stand up and say to hell with you to some of the provincial policies," one member said.

Medical services, both in Kinmount and Minden were reviewed at length. The possibility of redesignating the Minden Hospital as a medical centre was suggested as a means of getting more government attention and money.

"The government is keen on health centres," Bexley Reeve Dean Spry said. He added that the problem with medical centres is that they don't have facilities for anything other than out-patient services and the fact that doctors don't stay at such facilities for more than two or three years at a time. Continuity of care is important, especially to seniors, who prefer to see the same doctor rather than adjust to a new one every few years.

In regard to the Minden Hospital, Laxton, Digby and Longford Reeve Doug Horton said: "The lead has to come from Minden."

Now that the people of the area have shown their support for the Northern Community Network and indicated what their concerns are, it is time for those people to step forward and get some teams together to deal with those concerns. The Somerville Township Office (488-2571) is acting as liaison with the Network. Anyone wishing to help out on a committee addressing a particular concern is welcome.

LDL Reeve Doug Horton said his municipality would be willing to play host to a town hall meeting. He indicated that the winter months would not be the ideal time and suggested a late April or early May date. The location and date will be set at the next NCN meeting, which has been scheduled for Thursday, February 10 at the Somerville Township Office.

In the meantime, those who are planning to attend the next town hall meeting will have time to think about the issues that are of most concern to them.

Trail potential yet untapped

Haliburton County is the owner of a jewel in the rough, waiting for someone to come along and uncover its hidden beauty.

It's no secret that the former CNR railway corridor between Kinmount and Haliburton has the potential of becoming a treasured recreational trail to be utilized by a wide variety of groups. However, until someone picks up the challenge of developing and managing the corridor, it will continue to see very limited use.

County Council bought the property several years ago with the notion of developing it as a trail. Council, however, has neither the money nor the inclination to take on a project that will surely be met with strong opposition. Meanwhile, management of the 30-mile corridor has been forfeited to the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association, which uses the land as one of its trails.

The HCSA's maintenance of the property is a blessing for anyone who hopes to use it in the future. The snowmobilers have kept the bed intact by patching up areas that are washed out by spring flooding.

Ironically, the HCSA is likely to absorb the most criticism if and when development plans come to the table. Snowmobiling is not easily compatible with many of the other proposed uses (hiking, trail riding, cycling).

Snowmobilers, however, cannot be ignored in any plans for the trail. They have been, and will likely continue to be, the largest users of the corridor. Instead of pushing snowmobilers off the trail, user groups will have to work in co-operation with the HCSA to develop an agreement whereby the greatest number of people can benefit.

With this in mind, it is encouraging to note that the Haliburton Highlands Field Naturalists are stepping cautiously with their initiative to develop a trail. They realize the value of the corridor as a nature trail but recognize there are other groups with an interest in this land. Instead of taking the bull by the horns, the field naturalists have decided to work in conjunction with others.

This group's approach may not be the most direct route to accomplishing its goal, but it is a the path of least resistance.

Poetry for The Times

Note: the following poetic remarks pertain to the November 15 edition of The Times.

Dear Mr. Editor and Publisher too,
To forty pages, your paper has grew.
Mostly local and family patter,
This latest issue is another matter.

It is of note your award was blue,
Does this imply a mandate true.
The NDP is selective of who they hire,
A little spark can cause a great fire.

Calling on Heaven to help the kids,
Thinking that Manning has hit the skids,
Ont thing he is not afraid to speak,
Then will Black, explain what is geek.

Many issues you cover so well,
The news of interest you can tell.
Rantin and Ravin is just filthy chatter,
From a mind that seems easy to scatter.

The Hometown boost was given a full page,
A good message for any age.
Drugs are out, don't take a bribe,
Keep it clean many will subscribe.

The Service Clubs and Hyland Crest,
Their reporting and poems among the best.
You have asked the public to drop a line,
Or send a fax, be sure to sign.

Church deli ad a sign of the times

Editor:

Christmas at St. Paul's - the church's ad in last week's paper hits the nail on the head about the times in which we live.

The same spirit is moving into the churches as it was 1900 years ago (See Matthew 21, Verses 12 and 13). "Christmas Sweet Shop, St. Peter's Deli, Stock up your freezer" - God's house a supermarket. "St. Peter's special Blend French Dressing" - holy smoke, who knew that St. Peter was an inventor of salad dressings?

It is sad that even the churches are losing the real meaning of Christmas. Probably, these are the signs of the time - unfortunately, not being seen by those who had set themselves as watchtowers over Christ's teaching.

Taking pride in home is tax free in townships

Editor:

Mariam Aggett's letter in your November 22 issue stated, "If you cut the grass or do some painting as he suggests, in Lutterworth your taxes go up."

In all fairness to Lutterworth Township, I feel it is necessary to respond to this statement.

Taxes, in any township, do not increase based on rate payers taking pride in their homes.

If a renovation is completed, the Assessment Office will reassess the property, not the township.

If Ms. Aggett had her taxes increased because she has cut her grass or painted her home, I suggest she attend a council meeting to discuss this.

Having the will to divide and conquer

Will: n. a device for splitting heirs.

Ah, the Last Will and Testament. Was there ever a legal proceeding that caused more friction, fright and fractiousness?

Okay, not counting marriage.

There have been some wild and woolly wills written ever since - well, I like to imagine that it goes back to the first primeval solicitor operating out of a storefront cave in prehistoric Mesopotamia. I see him as a smiling devil with meticulously combed eyebrows, wearing a three-piece pinstripe of Mastodon worsted. I can visualize my Stone Age solicitor wedging a charred stick between the stiffening fingers of an expiring client, positioning the poor wretch in front of a stone tablet and urging him to "remember his friends" in writing.

And thus creating the first Last Will and Testament.

An awful lot of legal ink has flowed under the litigational bridge since those early days, but wills still make for some fascinating reading. Take the case of Henry, Earl of Stafford, an 18th century English gentleman.

Well, not much of a gentleman perhaps... but a plain speaker. Part of his will reads: "To the worst of women... unfortunately my wife, guilty as she is of all crimes, I leave five-forty brass halfpence which will buy a pullet for her supper."

Charles Dodgson, better known as Lewis

Black'n White

by Arthur Black

Carroll, author of Alice In Wonderland was more concerned with how people handled his send off. "I request," wrote Dodgson, "that no Pall may be employed... Also that it may be a walking funeral... and generally that all details be simple and inexpensive, avoiding all things which are merely done for show."

The will of the great magician Houdini is more remarkable for what it did not contain. Contrary to hints he gave out while living, Houdini did not reveal his professional escape secrets in his will, but he did bequeath his collection of books on magic to the U.S. Library of Congress - and made sure that the rabbits he customarily pulled out of hats all found good homes with the children of his friends.

Silverdene Emblem O'Neill left a will at least as interesting as the name of the subject. "I have little in the way of material things to leave. There is nothing of value I have to bequeath except my love and faith."

"These I leave to all those who loved me... Perhaps it is vain of me to boast when I am so near death, which returns all beasts and vanities to dust, but I have always been an extremely loveable dog."

That's right. Silverdene Emblem O'Neill (Blemie to his friends) was a Dalmatian owned by the American playwright Eugene O'Neill, who also wrote up the will on his pet's behalf.

J. Edgar Hoover, the eccentric, if not downright kinky, head of the FBI for several hundred years, left the bulk of his estate to, not surprisingly, his constant companion Clyde Tolson. There is no provision in the Hoover will for disposition of his fine collection of ballroom gowns.

Speaking of party girls, the late great Janis Joplin left a typically Joplinsque will to remember her by - money for an all-night party for 200 pals at her favourite saloon in San Anselmo, California "so all my friends can get blasted after I'm gone." For one night, all the Southern Comfort, tequila, vodka and beer was on Janis.

Which brings us to the Last Will and Testament of Terry Oxley, recently deceased farmer near the town of Goole, in northeast England. From his hospital bed, Terry dictated the terms of his will, including a clause that instructs his solicitor to drop in to the nearby British Legion Pub in Goole once a week to pay George Carkwells' bar bill. George, you see is (was) Terry Oxley's drinking buddy. The Oxley Will states that George is to get "one thousand pints of bitter... on a basis of 35 pints a week."

Thirty-five pints a week, eh?

Well, cheers to you Terry Oxley... and whichever bar you're bellying up to these days, be it celestial or infernal, I suggest you make room for your pal George.

At 35 pints a week, he should be along any day.

GREATER MINDEN BUSINESS ASSOCIATION

New group encompasses entire business community

A new business association could be formed in the Minden area in the next few months.

The first tentative steps toward creating such a group took place Wednesday morning as merchants from the village and surrounding area gathered to discuss the possibility. The consensus which emerged was that there is a need for an organization which reaches beyond the boundaries of the Minden Business Improvement Area.

The BIA, which has been in operation for more than ten years, is governed by a strict set of provincial regulations which specifically define the geographic boundaries.

The exclusive nature of the BIA's mandate has often led to confusion and consternation from merchants outside the boundaries who were looking for the support and direction which could be provided through a local business organization.

In contrast, it was agreed at the Wednesday meeting that the new organization, which has been tentatively named the Greater Minden Business Association, would not have any geographical boundaries and that any business operator who felt a part of the Minden business community would be welcome to join.

Those in attendance Wednesday, representing businesses from both inside and outside the BIA, felt there was a great deal which could be gained by creating a new organization which would encompass all businesses in the general Minden area.

The group agreed that the BIA serves an important function for the downtown merchants, but that an organization of business owners with a wider perspective would also be of value.

The Wednesday meeting evolved out of a BIA meeting a week earlier at which Bryan Brown, coordinator for the Haliburton County Community Futures Program, told the gathering that a co-ordinated approach, involving as broad a cross-section of the business community as possible, would be needed to chart a course for the future prosperity of the area.

Brown was unable to attend the Wednesday meeting, however in his absence, Councillor Jean Anthon directed the discussions. Among the issues which were identified as important to the business community were: developing marketing strategies; providing support for area events and co-ordination of fund-raising; education for managers and staff; moving toward common business hours; business networking; conducting surveys of consumers and businesses; and providing a structure for social activities. It was noted that this was just a preliminary list and that other ideas could be developed as the members of the organization defined its purpose.

The group agreed to hold a meeting in January, at which time all Minden area merchants will be invited to help this new group take shape.

Notices of the time and location of the meeting will appear in The Times and be posted in the community. An effort will also be made to contact merchants by telephone to encourage involvement.

Bantam A Monarchs on a roll

Credit three more wins to the Minden Monarchs Bantam A as they had another successful week of play.

On November 13 Fenelon Falls visited Minden and was defeated 6-1. The first goal of the game was scored by Sheamus Donnery, assisted by Darren Mills and Donald Todd. With 54 seconds left in the first period, Jeff Wray gave Minden a 2-0 lead with Marty Dettman and Dennis Woods picking up assists on the play.

Minden added three more in the second period to take a commanding lead. Dave Raback, assisted by Tom Bagshaw, was the first to score. Ben Ripley and Woods then set up Dettman for the second goal of the period and Darren Mills put the third one in with assists from Donnery and Rob Camelon.

The only Minden goal of the third was scored by Chris Eskelin with Wray and Woods getting the assists. Fenelon also scored in the third.

The following Saturday Woodville travelled to Minden and lost a squeaker, 3-2. Goalie Justin Rowden made a lot of good saves in this game.

Jeff Wray opened the scoring in the second period with Dennis Woods and Daniel Howell assisting. That goal proved to be the difference as both teams scored twice in the third period. Tom Bagshaw scored the second Minden goal with an assist going to Marty Dettman. Sheamus Donnery scored the third goal, assisted by Dettman.

The next day Minden travelled to Beaverton and won 14-1. Justin Rowden had a very quiet night while his teammates were busy having a field day.

Dave Raback and Jeff Wray each had four goals, while Chris Eskelin and Dennis Woods had hat tricks for Minden. On the assists ledger, Woods, Raback, Marty Dettman and Curtis Fielding had three apiece while Wray, Rob Camelon, Sheamus Donnery, Ben Ripley, Donald Todd, Tom Bagshaw and Darren Mills had one each.

Haliburton Redmen Mark Morissette screens Kenner Rams goalie Brian Kent as he watches the puck go wide of the net.

Kenner proves to be Ram tough

by Andy Holloway

A major brawl which spilled over into the stands marred a 6-2 victory by the Kenner Rams over the Haliburton Highlands Redmen last Wednesday at the Dysart Arena.

The brawl broke out with five minutes to play in the game and the Redmen behind by four goals. The resulting spill-over into the stands caused by some fans behind the Rams' bench, resulted in Redmen coach Ron Yake calling the game off, with little objection from the Kenner team.

The brawl started out innocently enough as a pile-up behind the Rams' net. Redmen defencemen moved in from the point and were picked off by Rams players and everyone had a partner. Things seemed to be quieting down when Kevin Morissette took a poke at a Rams player. Morissette was on the receiving end of a lot of punches when Redmen goalie Peter Brohman rushed 150 feet down the ice and pile-driven the Rams player from behind.

Brohman's move, which was roundly cheered by some of the morons in the stands, fired up HHSS students who then began abusing the Rams players on the bench. One Ram was so incensed that he climbed into the stands in pursuit of a student pounding him on the head.

The Rams and the Redmen were then ushered off the ice, cancelling the rest of the game which had been one of the cleanest high school hockey games up until that point.

The end result of the brawl was that six Redmen and three Rams were given five minute fighting majors and automatic game suspensions. Tracey Kelusky of the Rams received a match penalty and an automatic five game suspension. Redmen receiving suspensions were Brohman, Kevin and Mark Morissette, Jeff Black, Peter Van Leeuwen and Jackie Morrison.

Coach Yake had praise for Morrison because he was the only player who made it back to his team's bench when the fighting started. Morrison did, however, leave the bench area as the fighting progressed.

The Rams came out flying and took a 4-0 lead before the 125 spectators even had a chance to warm up their seats. The Rams scored with just 87 seconds gone in the game and then added three more in the space of seven minutes.

Rams play tough with Redmen

The Redmen looked thoroughly disorganized during the first 15 minutes of action. Passes failed to click and they gave the puck away several times in their own end.

That all changed at the start of the second period. Greg Stamp scored on a rebound in front of the Rams goal. Mike MacKenzie did the leg work on the goal, throwing his weight around in the Rams end and earned an assist on the play. Curtis Bain also picked up an assist.

The Rams came back with one of their own when Adam Hale took a pass from Kris Simpson and beat Brohman. Simpson had five points in the game, including four assists.

Mark Stamp cut the lead to three goals as the Redmen continued to forecheck well. The Morissette brothers, Mark and Kevin, picked up the assists on the goal.

The only goal of the shortened third period was scored by the Rams. The Redmen and the Rams put on nearly 40 minutes of good hockey before the brawl ended the game prematurely.

School officials are looking at ways to tighten security at Haliburton hockey games. Fortunately, the Redmen do not play at home until December 8 so they have lots of time to get something done.

Mark Robinson named an all-star

Former Haliburton Highlands student Mark Robinson was named to the Canadian University football all-Canadian second team at offensive tackle.

The announcement was made during Vanier Cup festivities in Toronto on November 19. Robinson played for the Queen's University Golden Gaels during the last four years.

Robinson was also up for the Russ Jackson Award for combining athletic, academic and good citizenship skills, but lost out to quarterback David Sykes of St. Mary's University in Halifax. Robinson was the Ontario-Quebec nominee for the award.

Haliburton Hockey Horror Show

Punish the pugilists

by Andy Holloway

It was a disgrace.

That phrase neatly sums up the ugly brawl that occurred last Wednesday night during a hockey game between Haliburton Highlands and Kenner Secondary Schools.

Hockey is a violent, fast sport. It is not a sport for wimps. There are hard hits, tough breaks and near misses and as a result, frustrations mount and tempers flare.

In North America, fighting has traditionally been the outlet for this built-up tension. As far as violence goes, fighting at hockey games is pretty tame. While not great, it's better than the stick swinging bouts which occur in European hockey.

Players will emulate their National Hockey League heroes, but there is clearly no need for fighting and brawling at the high school level. The drive to succeed must be tempered by a show of sportsmanship. After all, these players are not making a living from the game.

There was little sportsmanship shown at last Wednesday's game.

It would be too simple to ban the entire team from competing because a few players lost control of their hormonally hyper-charged bodies, but there must be a clear signal sent to the players and the students at large that this nonsense will not be tolerated under any conditions. One-game suspensions and a talking-to just does not cut it.

So what's the solution? Haliburton High is implementing a tough new code, but it does not cover last Wednesday's sorry spectacle. It should.

If the players can not be relied upon to provide good sportsmanship, then they should be banned from playing in any tournaments. The school did the right thing by pulling out of a tournament on the weekend and it should pull out of its two other scheduled tournaments.

In addition, those players responsible for the brawl should be suspended for at least five games, if not the year. Both the Redmen and the Rams would be losing some key players and probably any chance of winning the league title, but too bad.

Finally, those so-called fans who harassed the Rams players on the bench, and especially the moronic lad who decided to rain his fists down on one player's head, should be charged by police so they have a permanent reminder of their stupidity.

Some may consider these measures harsh, but players and fans have to remember that it's only a game - a tough game, but still a game.

Trash the team

by Russ Duhaime

It's not enough.

The high school's response to the undisciplined and unruly behaviour of its hockey team is akin to closing the gates after the cows have left. It's too little and far too late.

The school's response to the recent on and off-ice brawls is to deliver a warning.

"Okay, boys, you done bad. If you guys do bad again we'll have to give you another warning."

"Yo! Bammer. You lisnin'? You got to work on your style. Hit from the shoulder, kid. Don't get tied up. Keep those fists tight and fire 'em out from the shoulder."

Responding with new rules at this point in the game is just a ploy. If the school was seriously concerned about the violence, these rules would have been in place back in the good old days when Haliburton was warring with Fenelon Falls.

Remember? The rivalry between the Redmen and Falcons was so vicious that brawls were an absolute certainty. Instead of dealing with the problem, though, the school simply moved the games onto neutral ice in Minden and banned spectators from the arena.

Can you imagine the school's reaction if these brawls broke out during a girls' field hockey game? Would the team be allowed to continue playing in tournaments if the players and fans couldn't keep their fists out of their opponents' faces?

Not likely.

The coaches and administration at the high school have had ample opportunity to clean up the hockey team's bloody reputation, but have failed miserably. Now it's time for the school board to step in and force the issue.

Instead of accepting the coaches' pallid warning, the board should be sending the team to the showers for the rest of the season. In the mean time, the board should consider replacing hockey with another sport.

Why is it that Haliburton High does not have a basketball team? The answer is that basketball might draw players away from the hockey team, thereby foiling the school's chances of glory on ice.

If high school hockey is replaced, players would still have town-league teams to fall back on. Meanwhile, a basketball team would provide students with the opportunity to try their hands at a sport that is not currently available in our communities.

I'm not saying that basketball is the only alternative to violence. Basketball is just an example - even boxing or wrestling would be less violent than the brand of hockey we've seen.

Home Hardware scored four times in the second period to overcome a first period deficit and beat Westside Jug City 6-5 in Minden Men's Recreational Hockey last Monday.

The Hardy boys were led by Boomer Stamp who scored three times including the game winner late in the second period. Stamp also added an assist to give him four points on the night, tops on the team.

Westside had taken a 3-2 lead in the first period on the strength of goals by Eldon Bull, Tom Haley and Paul Mayo. Picking up assists were Bull, Greg Metcalfe, Gary Nelson and Mike Keaney.

Scoring for Home Hardware in the first were Dave Dollo and Stamp, both of whom had assists as did Brian Shaw.

The second was a reversal of the first with Home Hardware scoring four times while Westside managed to beat Kevin Smith just twice. Trini Elias started the scoring with an assist from Stamp and then Stamp scored his second of the game on assists by Tom Miscio and Doug Allison.

Westside bounced back to tie it up on an unassisted goal by Dave Rodgers. Brian Shaw moved Home Hardware ahead by one, but Gary Nelson tied it up again for Westside setting the stage for Stamp's winning goal.

The win improved Home Hardware's record to 3-1 while Westside is still searching for its first win of the season.

The second game of the night was a blowout. KDD demolished The Times 12-2 to keep pace with Home Hardware.

Ivan Ingram was the top scorer with a hat trick and four assists while John Fedeski and Jeff Howe also had three goals apiece. Other goal scorers for KDD were Steve Stewart, Jason Stamp and Scott Danilko. Stamp also added three assists while Fedeski and Howe had two each.

It's a pretty short list for The Times, but Paul Walker scored in the first on a pass from Doug Schell and Andy Campbell scored in the second with Jim Pettes picking up the assist.

Minden wins one at Haliburton volleyball tourney

by Andy Holloway

Both the girls and boys finals at an elementary school volleyball tournament at J.D. Hodgson featured plenty of good action, but no Haliburton County teams.

The day-long tourney took place last Tuesday and featured 20 teams. In the Boys tourney Haliburton 1 made it to the semi-finals by winning three of its four games in the opening round-robin. Fenelon Falls, however, derailed Haliburton by winning 15-13, 15-10 to move onto the finals where they played Omamee and won.

Haliburton 2 did not do nearly as well as its first team counterparts, winning one and dropping three. The one win was against Minden which went winless in four.

On the girl's side Minden did slightly better, beating Haliburton 2 in the opening round-robin 21-14. Minden could not, however, win its other three games. Haliburton 2 also won just one game, 21-19 over Omamee while Haliburton 1 beat both Haliburton 2 and Minden.

None of the three county teams made it to the playoffs. Omamee, Bancroft, Dunsford and Fenelon Falls were the four teams who battled it out, with Dunsford winning it all by beating Bancroft in the final.

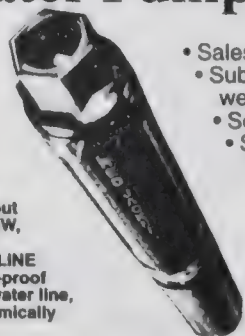

While the Minden teams did finish highly they only had two practices under their belts before coming to the tourney. J.D. Hodgson teacher and tournament organizer Roy Hoare gave praise to both Minden squads for their effort and enthusiasm.

"They were never down and were always upbeat. They were here for six weeks earlier this year and they seemed to enjoy coming back and meeting all the students again."

The tournament featured schools from surrounding areas including teams from Fenelon Falls, Fenelon Township, Ops, Dunsford, Omamee, Mariposa and Bancroft.

Hoare said the tournament could not have run without the volunteer help of the student referees from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School and the parent volunteers. He also credited all the coaches for instilling an easy-going atmosphere to the games despite the competition.

Sled dogs already in training

There hasn't been much in the way of snow on the ground in Central Ontario as yet, but mushers across the province — indeed, across North America — have been out training their dog teams for nearly two months, getting ready for the continent-wide competitive season ahead.

One of the first major races of the season is the Minden Techni-cal Challenge, held every winter in Minden. Thanks to superior organization and the commitment of race sponsor Martin Pet Foods, which provide the purse of $25,100, it has become the world's largest limited-class sled-dog race.

Sled dogs are frankly out of condition after a lazy summer when outdoor temperatures are too high to run these polar animals. But if mushers wait until there is a good base of snow, they won't be able to get the dogs into shape by the time the season begins. So how do they do it?

Before the snow flies, most mushers use a home-made, three-wheeled training rig. The driver rides on a platform at the back and the dogs are hitched up with their usual harnesses. As with any athlete in training, mushers start their dogs off slowly with relaxed runs of short distances, giving the animals a chance to build their strength and endurance gradually.

Training follows a progressive schedule, starting with teams of eight to 12 dogs running about three miles over 15 to 20 minutes. By the time the season starts, each dog will have run 300 to 500 miles — the driver much more! When the snow is finally deep enough to carry a sled, driver and team should be moving at an average of 18 to 20 miles an hour to be competitive.

Not only do the dogs need to regain their physical conditioning, they also need to be retrained in the business of being a team. Dog drivers use this period to find out which dogs are losing their edge through age or for other reasons and which yearlings are ready for the challenge of the race course. It's also a chance to give the puppies a taste of what running and pulling are all about.

Each place on the team, from lead dogs at the front to wheel dogs at the back, involves a particular kind of job and some dogs are better suited to one than another. (More about that in the next article.) Early training gives the musher a chance to try dogs out in various positions to find which one they're best at. The dog that wasn't very good at lead last year may now be ready for that responsibility. Or not. This is the time of year to find out.

By the time the season starts, the musher has assessed the attributes of each dog in the kennel and chosen the ones that will make up the team. Only those that have proven they work best will actually race. But back-up dogs will also be needed during the season and they too must be in top physical and mental shape. Taking them along to races also gets them used to the excitement of the event so they can handle it when their day comes.

The Minden Techni-cal Challenge is one of the most exciting events on the racing calendar for a variety of reasons. It attracts the world's top competitors, it offers the racing circuit's toughest course, and, thanks to the Main Street start and finish line, it provides spectators with a close-up view of the action. Spectators are also welcome to visit the dog yard to check out the dogs and puppies, and talk with the mushers to find out how it's done.

All in all, the Minden Techni-cal Challenge is a great weekend for everyone — dogs, mushers, and spectators.

To celebrate the 10th anniversary edition of the Minden Techni-cal Challenge, we are pleased to offer the second in a series of five articles that offer our readers insight into the sport of sled-dog racing. This year's running of the Minden Techni-cal Challenge will be held on January 22 and 23, 1994.

MUSH: While the drivers and teams are training on dry land trails now, this is their ultimate objective, to be dashing through the snow.

Nesbitt, Hamilton grab five points

KDD scored eight goals in the second to blow the game after opening up a 4-1 lead in the first period.

The Times' record drops to 1-3, good enough for a share of fourth place with Sid Stamp who were beaten by Hartwick 7-4 in the final match.

Scott Nesbitt and Scott Hamilton each had five points for Hartwick, with Nesbitt scoring three goals and Hamilton picking up four assists.

Hartwick opened up a 5-3 lead in a high-scoring first period. Nesbitt scored all three of his goals in the first for a natural hat trick while Hamilton and John Ballantyne also scored. Picking up assists were Hamilton (2), Ballantyne (2), Bern Berry (1) and Jerry Campbell (1).

The Stampers received goals from Craig Crowe, from Gord Wood and Gary Harrison, and two from Craig Philip — the first unassisted, the second assisted by Crowe and Gary Harrison.

Hartwick increased its lead to 7-3 on a pair of goals by Kim Colliss. Hamilton assisted on both efforts while Nesbitt picked up the second assist on Colliss' second goal.

Ben Manuge finished the scoring for the Stampers on a pass from Gord Wood.

Hartwick remains in first place with four wins against no losses.

Family service agencies to be under one roof

by Andy Holloway

Children and family service groups in Haliburton County will soon be governed by a single board of directors, but this should not change the types of services offered.

Representatives from various agencies serving Haliburton County decided to create a single board of directors at a two-day retreat earlier this month at the Bark Lake Leadership Centre.

The board will be responsible for the use of funds and delivery of services currently provided by the local chapters of the Children's Aid Society, Kinark, Infant Development Programme, Parent Support Services and Case Coordination.

A feasibility study by Nancy Draper and Associates completed in May, 1992 recommended that a single organization be formed to consolidate the above children's service agencies to cut down on the amount of administration and costs needed to run each separately. The report stated that financial restraints would eventually force agencies to begin integrating services to better use local resources.

"We want to make sure that when this whole process gets started that the monies that are available from the Ministry of Community and Social Services will be used to get the biggest bang for our (the public's) buck," said Mike Burke, the chairman of the Feasibility of Amalgamation of Children's Services

Study Committee.

Burke said when the new board takes over, the various individual groups will eventually cease to exist in Haliburton County. This does not prevent the board from buying services from those groups who have larger provincial organizations behind them, like Kinark.

A steering committee to create the new board will be named by January 15 with the new directors being elected by July 15. The county's Social Action Committee will ensure there is no conflict of interest in the membership of the steering committee. Burke said the new board will take over the finances at the beginning of the government's fiscal year in April, 1995.

There will be some adjustment, but it will not affect the quality of services currently offered, said Burke.

"What we're looking at is a one-stop shopping system for families and parents. Right now they have to go the children's Aid they have to go to Case Coordination or Kinark. If we have one organization, then they can just go to it," Burke said, "and that one organization can deal with the situation."

"No one is going to be short-changed on this. Families will continue to be serviced, but we're looking for a better way, and hopefully a more economical way of doing it."

The process of amalgamating the service groups has already taken nearly three years.

Bill Roszell, second from right, president of the Minden Rotary Club, accepts a cheque for $2,103, in the shape of a boot, from Dale Merrill. The money was raised at a dance held last month. Dance organizers Lisa Connolly, left, and France Rochat were also on hand to witness the presentation. The money will be held in the club's Hospital Building Fund trust account. Following on the success of this venture, the group plans another event around Valentine's Day

Plan may include work awaiting funding

by Andy Holloway

Projects stalled because of a lack of funding may be eligible for the Liberal's $6 billion infrastructure program outlined in the Red Book, local MP John O'Reilly says.

The final details of the job creation plan have not been released and are still being ironed out said O'Reilly. But he said the way he understands it municipalities with projects on the boards, that are waiting for proper funding from the provinces, will be eligible under the plan.

The Liberal plan calls for each of the three levels of government to contribute a third of the funds for each project. The program is expected to last two years and will upgrade roads, sewer and water treatment plants, environmental improvements and transportation routes.

Most municipal projects are funded equally between the province and the municipality or the province pays a bigger share. Federal transfer payments to the provinces have been cut during the past few years and the provinces have passed along the cuts to municipalities, stalling job creating public works and the economy.

"A lot of projects now are just waiting for provincial funding and they don't have any money because of cuts in federal transfer payments so if the funding comes from the top down then those projects will get a boost," O'Reilly said.

"I suspect that the program will be so successful that there may have to be cuts in other areas."

As an example of the types of projects that could be eligible O'Reilly said there are two sewer projects in Lindsay waiting for approval and both could qualify for federal funds.

If those types of projects are acceptable to the Liberals it should provide a big boost to the economy of Haliburton County and its ten municipalities, said warden Chris Hodgson.

Last week the government announced the Tories had miscalculated the size of the debt and that the deficit for 1992-93 will be about $40 billion, the largest in history.

Many economists feel the larger than expected deficit will force the Liberals to scale back on the infrastructure program, but finance minister Paul Martin said the plan will go ahead.

Police may be required to control hockey fans actions are not acceptable.

"It's above and beyond what the league rules are, but we're trying to make a stand here with our players and hopefully we will maybe be leaders amongst the league's teams and some of the rules of the league will be affected."

Yake said a scheduled trip to a Fenelon Falls tournament over the weekend was immediately cancelled. At this tournament, the Redmen would have played the Lindsay and Fenelon, teams they have brawled with in the past.

Education Director Brad Saunders said he sees no reason for the board to intervene in the matter. He said the team is governed by rules established by the Central Ontario Secondary School Association (COSSA), the individual teams and school principals.

Saunders did express concern over the lack of separation between teams and the fans at the Dysart Arena, but that too is a matter for principal Brohman to deal with.

"It may be that we have to look seriously at having police stationed at our games and if we do, then that is a sad testimonial on the state of high school hockey, and hockey in general."

Coach Yake said some other possibilities could be having parent volunteers or other adults monitoring the arena during games and placing Plexiglass between fans and the players' benches. The Plexiglass would be paid for out of team funds.

The Redmen do not play another home game until December 8.

Minden Council Notes

Carnival is taking shape

The following brief items were discussed at Minden Council last Thursday.

Carnival action

There will definitely be a Minden Winter Carnival this January. Council heard that plans for the carnival are proceeding well and that many events are already falling into place. At the Winter Carnival Committee meeting on November 17 it was decided that the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association and Minden Fire Department will assist in the torchlight parade to kick off the weekend.

Other events are also coming together. The Lions will donate $500 to the Queen/King contest and snowmobile dealers will be contacted for possible donations of complete outfits for the winners. There will be a hockey game, but the teams and format have yet to be decided. And alcohol will be served at the carnival dance which will book a disc jockey rather than a live band.

Evaluating livestock

An unusual regulation requires the township to appoint a livestock evaluator, council heard while in committee-of-the-whole. The evaluator would be responsible for investigating any livestock killings and determine whether the killing was done by a dog or a wild animal.

The township is required to pay the price of slain livestock to the owner. The Ministry of Agriculture then reimburses the township if the livestock was killed by a wild animal, but does not pay if a dog does the dirty deed. The township can go after the dog's owner if it knows who it is, but this is hard to track.

December meeting

There will be only one council meeting in December because of the holiday season. It will be on December 9 at 7:30 p.m.

Local family events listing sought by committee

In 1989, the United Nations General Assembly proclaimed 1994 as the International Year of the Family based on the principle that families constitute the basic unit of society and therefore warrant special attention and care.

In November of 1992, the Canada Committee for the International Year of the Family was formed. The Right Honourable Ray Hnatyshyn is the Patron. The mission of the committee is to emphasize the importance the function of family performs as a financial, nurturing, protecting, educating and cultural unit and how critical it is in the development of individual members and their contributions to Canadian society.

In keeping with the mandate, the Canada Committee will act as a catalyst for positive celebrations, debate and discussion on the overall importance of the value of families and to encourage Canadians to reflect on family issues and matters. By disseminating this information, the committee is hopeful that efforts will be made at a local level to create an awareness among all Canadians and to reinforce the principle that strong and healthy families create strong, healthy and productive societies.

To this end, individuals representing the environment, arts, travel and recreation, health, safety, education, financial planning, spirituality and services for children, youth and the elderly have gathered to initiate local awareness and celebration in Haliburton County.

In conjunction with the official international launch date of November 20, events were planned for this date in Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver. People are invited to honour the International Year of the Family by endorsing it in all their promotions in 1994.

The local community committee will be preparing monthly calendar submissions, courtesy of The Times and two local sponsors, highlighting family oriented events in the community.

Watch for the International Year of the Family logo on these calendars: a heart sheltered by a roof, linked by another heart, to symbolize life and love in a home where one finds warmth, caring, security, togetherness and acceptance. Its open design is meant to indicate continuity with a hint of uncertainty. The brushstroke, with its open line roof, completes an abstract symbol representing the complexity of the family.

Submissions to these calendars are welcome and can be called in to Sue Valm at CHACE (457-2989) or Alison Bain at Intra Travel (457-3290).

Community policing meeting set

Another meeting of the The Stanhope-Carnarvon Community Policing Association is planned for December 1 in the Stanhope firehall.

Area residents are invited to attend the 7:30 p.m. meeting to find out more about the association. OPP Sergeant Doug Bernardi will be on hand to explain what avenues of service the association might take.

The association was formed in October when an executive committee was struck. The October 27 meeting also brought about several suggestions for consideration. A report on these will be available at the meeting.

Membership is open to all Carnarvon and Stanhope business people and residents. The association is looking for new members who have time to volunteer to the various projects under consideration.

Volunteer application forms are available at the Stanhope Township office. Completed forms should be brought to the December 1 meeting. Forms will also be available at the meeting.

District health council approves care committee appointments

The District Health Council has approved a slate of appointees to its three Long-Term Care Committees for the counties of Northumberland, Peterborough and Victoria.

As subcommittees of the council, these newly-formed groups act as council's primary advisors in the planning of long-term care for and with seniors and persons with disabilities in the three counties. A similar committee is planned for Haliburton County in the new year.

These committees are the result of more than two years of work by the task forces in each of the three counties charged with creating a model for planning. More recently, the Ministry of Health has given district health councils the lead role in long-term care planning. With its community partners on these committees, the council will now begin to carry out this enhanced role.

Membership of the committees is comprised of service providers, consumers and others, representing broad community interests and needs.

Through the work of these committees, the health council will advise the minister on issues such as health and social service priorities, allocation of funding, new program proposals and the new multi-service agencies.

Poppy Campaign raises $6,900

These past months, as usual, have been one of the busiest times in the Legion's calendar. Zone F-4's Fall Convention and parade, service and reception were just two events at which Branch 636 was well represented. Socially, the Fund Day on Oct. 10 in appreciation of our Ladies Auxiliary raised more than $450 to help them with their expenses. Our Ways and Means Committee did a good job in organizing this event. The fun and games were great. The steak night on Oct. 23 proved likewise great fun and Comrade Terry Campbell did an excellent job preparing those delicious steaks and Idahos.

The November Poppy Campaign was again excellent with close to $6,900 being raised for the Poppy Trust Fund. Much credit for this is due to Comrades Sharon and Jack Sykes, who spent many hours to assure the campaign's success. Many do not realize the amount of planning and organizing necessary for this entire campaign. Some of this is the advertising, downtown window displays, poppy box distribution and pick up, dispensing, donation collection, scheduling and accounting.

In addition to the Remembrance Parade and Service at the Brechin-Mara Branch, we participated with Branch 129 in Haliburton. There we attended a service at their branch, then paraded to the Cenotaph. The parade returned to the branch after the tributes were placed at the Cenotaph. We enjoyed a reception there and lots of comradeship with other Legionnaires.

Our own Remembrance Parade and Service was

by Dave McAdam, Branch 636 Legion

on Nov. 7. The parade was well attended both by our own members and comrades from Kinmount, Haliburton and Brechin-Mara branches. Afterwards we enjoyed a reception at the branch and were entertained by the talented pipers from Branch 129's band. On Nov. 11, Branch 636 was also honoured to participate with the children from Archie Stouffer Elementary School in a service of tribute at the County Cairn. Without detailing, one can imagine the work of organizing these events. Though there are inevitably some glitches that happen each year, we can sincerely say that the 1993 Poppy Campaign was a success. We wish to thank all of our members who participated and worked so hard. In addition, we wish to thank the OPP, Minden Council, and the various businesses where poppy distribution took place.

When this column goes to press our St. Andrew's Night on Nov. 27 and our Grey Cup Party on Nov. 28 will be history. We are certain both events will be great fun and hopefully well attended.

Our last Honours and Awards evening was held in conjunction with our last General Meeting on Nov. 3. Branch 636 served the previous executive with the various medals and bars that they earned. In addition, a number of persons were awarded Legion Certificates of Appreciation for acts rendered to or on behalf of this branch.

Curling challenge livens Legions

In sports, Branch 636 will be curling against Branch 129 on Dec. 5. A pot luck supper will be served with 129 members supplying the main course and 636 members the desert. Should any members or interested curlers wish to participate, you are most welcome. We need players and teams. Please contact Comrade Ken Walsh at 286-3820 with your name and phone number. Games will be six ends with first draw starting at 12:30 p.m. and second at 1:15 p.m. at the Haliburton Curling Club.

In January or February, Branch 636 will be hosting Branch 129 here at the Minden Curling Club. Ken will also be looking for help in organizing and food service. Details will be announced later. A new trophy is being made up for these curling events which we hope will become annual events.

One coming event which is a very pleasant time is the annual 636 Christmas Party for the children or grandchildren of our Ladies Auxiliary members and branch members or affiliates. This will be on Dec. 12, starting at 2 p.m.

Should you plan to participate with your sugar plum urchins, please find the appropriate sheet on the bulletin board in the lobby of the branch. We will need to know on or before Nov. 30 the number of children you will be bringing, their ages and whether they are boys or girls.

On Dec. 14, Branch 636 will be serving our annual turkey dinner to any single veterans. These veterans do not need to be members of the Legion. If you know of any vets in this category, please tell our Service Officer, Comrade Bud Murray (489-2657) about them. We will be pleased to extend an invitation to them and if transportation is needed, please advise so. We have volunteers who can pick them up or take them home. This is Branch 636's way of saying thanks to the men and women who offered their lives in the service of Canada.

The New Year is fast approaching. We will shortly be selling tickets at our bar for the annual New Year's Eve Party at the Legion - Dec. 31. The committee has some fun and celebration ready and we hope you will be there.

We are sad to report the passing of the following Comrades and friends of Branch 636: R.J. Alexander, ordinary member from Ajax; David Ranson, Fraternal Affiliate from Minden; Garnet Ash, former President of Bradford Legion and husband of Dorothy Ash, past 636 Membership Chairman. We offer our sincere sympathy to the families of these persons.

Lastly, the Legion is accumulating food for both the Minden Community Food Bank and the Sunday School Mission Cheer. Please drop your donations for either or both of these worthwhile collections into the branch as soon as possible. The need is especially great now.

Tasty fish and chips served up as a change for seniors

On Saturday, Estella Hunter was here to continue reading to us. We certainly enjoy her reading and thank her very much.

Chapel service was taken by Rev. John Burgess with June Mason playing the organ. Thank you John and June.

Monday we had fitness in the morning followed by residents' council in the afternoon, held in the auditorium at 2 p.m. with a good attendance. The meeting commenced with the singing of O' Canada. Reports were given by several committees and Gary McKnight, administrator.

Tuesday morning service was taken by Rev. Peter Walford Davis, followed by the United Church luncheon for members who are residents of Hyland Crest.

Dottie Muirhead had crafts during the afternoon, preparing things to brighten Christmas. That evening Corinne Arsenault set up for two tables of cards and we thank her truly.

Wednesday morning Bonnie Fullan held fitness in the auditorium and Dottie Muirhead read the local papers for the residents who wanted to hear what was happening in the vicinity.

For a change, Wednesday at noon we had fish and chips from Gramma's Fish and Chips in Minden. The residents enjoy this very much.

Thursday was the tea party hosted by the Minden Legion Ladies 636 - Corinne Arsenault, Sheila Burke,

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Jean Sears, Terry Campbell and Leeanne Bathe. They served a delicious tea. There was a good turnout of residents, which encourages the ladies who put so much effort in making the tea party enjoyable for us. We thank all you ladies immensely, also Pat Scott for helping the residents who require help.

Friday, as usual, was happy hour. Frank Faulkner and Al Blanchard provided the sweet and mellow music. We thank them heartily. Doris Brown amused us by reciting from her collection of songs. Thank you Doris. The volunteers were Mary Guillemin, Dottie Muirhead (who provided lovely squares) and Don and Ellen Holden. We were all glad to see Ellen.

May Horsley was pleased and happy to have Mr. and Mrs. Grey Sisson visit her this week. Grey is Mary's Nephew.

Good wishes to Margaret Sisson on having a birthday, November 18.

We are happy to have Doris Robertson-Alton back on duty.

PUT AN ECO IN YOUR HOME

Environment joins NDP and Tories on sidelines

The NDP and Conservatives weren't the only casualties in the Oct. 25 election — environmentalists are also asking themselves what happened. After years as a major concern of the public, the environment disappeared from the political arena.

Was the eco-crisis really a hoax? Or is it under control and no longer a serious problem? Of course not. Population growth, toxic pollution, extinction, etc., continue unabated. So like the losing parties, environmentalists must search for new strategies.

One problem is that we tend to look to government for our solutions. If we can just raise the important issues and elect the right people, we think, things will get better. But if that's why the traditional parties were rejected and the BQ and Reform elected, it doesn't bode well.

Just days before the election, the Bloc refused to participate in a candidates debate on the environment while the Reform party said it had no one who was competent to debate the issue. In other words, the environment wasn't a priority.

But government institutions simply aren't designed to tackle ecological issues seriously. Regardless of the party in power, the government's priority must be the economy. The Finance Department dominates the rest of cabinet and makes all other programs possible. There is no acknowledgement that any economy is made possible by the natural world.

Yet everything that we depend on in our offices, factories, schools and homes has come from the earth. Nature provides us with all that human ingenuity exploits to support our economies.

It is a grotesque inversion of reality to think we can only afford a clean environment when the economy is growing. Yet conventional economics is so disconnected from our surroundings that major decisions with enormous impact on air, water, soil and other living things are made with little concern for ecological consequences.

In government, the environment is fragmented into categories like forests, water, atmosphere and oceans, and sprinkled among different portfolios. But the parts of the ecosphere are all interconnected and interdependent and so should not be dealt with as isolated items.

Parliament assumes that we can shoe-horn bits and pieces of nature into our jurisdictions where they will be made to conform to our economic and political agendas. Thus, we claim to manage natural resources like wild creatures, whole ecosystems and watersheds.

But in the real world of nature, animals, plants, air or water pay absolutely no attention to human boundaries or bureaucratic categories through which we implement and regulate policies.

We have faith that democracy is the finest political system going, which gives us high hopes for government. And in the past, Parliament worked because our numbers were small, our technology simple and our environmental impact sustainable.

But that's no longer true because the speed, scale and scope of our impact on the planet is too great. For decades, experts have warned about the coming decline in northern cod, excess pollution of the Great Lakes, deforestation and ozone depletion, yet politicians could not act quickly and decisively. Now solutions to ecological problems like global warming and water pollution will cost hundreds of billions spent over decades. Political time frames based on inter-election intervals make it impossible to implement such programs. Furthermore, the constituency to whom politicians are beholden — party members, donors, voters — does not include those who will be most deeply affected by their decisions. Among those who don't count because they don't vote are children and all future generations.

Politicians cannot make current voters pay for the benefit of those yet unborn. And human chauvinism ensures that we will not consider other perspectives that might temper our reckless decisions.

Species extinction, smog, water pollution and climate change would be far less serious had we been more respectful of the needs of plants, animals, rivers, air, soil or whole ecosystems.

As we debate the future of Clayoquot Sound, Great Whale River and northern cod, the priority of ministers of oceans, fishery, forests, natural resources or environment, is not the long-term protection and health of water, fish, trees, soil or the environment. Instead, it is to maximize their exploitation by humans.

We can't continue focusing on each election hoping for a better outcome. We have to inculcate an environmental ethic that recognizes our immersion within the natural world and our absolute need to share it with other life forms.

The County of Haliburton proposes to begin the initial stages of construction in the spring of 1994. Public comment will be received until January 15th, 1994, at this time the County will advise the public of the selected design.

NATIONAL DAY OF COMMEMORATION DECEMBER 6

The Need For Action

December 6 is not only a day of remembrance, but a day which emphasizes the need for action; the need to do, to inform, to involve; the need to see December 6 not simply as a day for wearing symbols, but also as a day for taking concrete steps. At the same time that we mourn, we have to work harder than ever for changes. And women shouldn't be expected to continue fighting against violence alone.

Each one of us has a role to play in helping women gain more control over their lives — so that they are not victimized by husbands, boyfriends, co-workers, landlords and neighbours:

- Parents and teachers can work to counter violence against women by helping children to develop without the old stereotypes of passive girls and aggressive boys.

- Health and social service workers can treat physically and sexually assaulted women with sensitivity — and help them get appropriate support and counselling if they need it.

- Law enforcers — including judges — can deal seriously and respectfully with women who report crimes of violence.

- Employers can make it clear to their workers that sexual harassment will not be allowed to poison the atmosphere of workplaces, and prevent women's advancement. Unions can send the same message to their members.

- Men who are sincere can stimulate discussions and take responsibility as well. They can contribute to stopping violence against women by talking to their sons, brothers, fathers and friends; by confronting traditional attitudes; and by challenging other men to change those attitudes.

PLEASE JOIN US FOR AN OUTDOOR PUBLIC VIGIL

To Remember The Fourth Anniversary Of The Montreal Massacre
And To Honour Other Women Who Have Experienced Violence.

• MONDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1993 at 12:15 p.m. - 12:45 p.m. •

BE A PART OF Haliburton County's
HEALTH CARE TEAM

Enthusiastic individuals from the Haliburton county area are required to provide their skills and expertise on the newly expanded Haliburton County Community Advisory Committee. The Committee will oversee all operational and planning issues involving Minden and Haliburton hospitals. The committee will also act as a local arm of the Hospital's Foundation.

The Committee will meet monthly in Haliburton and Minden (alternating) and the ability to attend such meetings regularly is an important consideration for those interested.

If you are willing to volunteer your time and would like to be an active partner in the future of Minden's Health care, think about this opportunity. There are four positions available.

If you wish to be considered, please apply in writing, explaining your interest and background by January 4 to:

Around the County Town

by Jeanne Sears (call 286-1538)

Correction from last week - the ladies of Our Lady of Fatima Roman Catholic Church are having their Christmas Bazaar Luncheon on Friday, December 3 from 11-2 and the Red Cross knitted items will also be on sale. Sorry about that.

We note the Minden Library will be closed from November 30 to December 6. The book exchange will be done soon and the library staff will welcome you back on December 7 when the renovations are completed.

Following in his family's footsteps Chris Hodgson has been selected P.C. candidate for M.P.P. for Victoria-Haliburton.

All good wishes to the following people who are on the sick list at present. Reg Burk, Bessie Burk who now has her knee bandage off, May Hicks who is on the mend and Gladys and Garnet Sedgwick who are now improving and to all the others we missed Sincere sympathy to the families and friends of the late David Ranson, Eldon Cowen, J.W. Sweetland and Rhoda Redgers who passed away recently.

The United Church Bazaar and Luncheon was well attended as was the Ladies Auxiliary of Branch 636 - too bad they were on the same day - can't get to both.

Trent McElwain of Pickering spent a few days last week with his mother, Dorothy McElwain.

Winners at Royal Canadian Legion Branch 636 euchre games held

November 18 included Helen Byne and Freeman McNeil with most lone hands, Ida Young and Bill Menard with high scores and Helen Skelding, Willard Bridgman, Jim Irwin, Tod Edgson, Tony Kenneth and Helen Byne.

Grenville Schrader of Oakville visited his summer home for a few days last week.

Kit and Ralph Schroter visited with Harold and Margaret Schroter in Port Hope recently.

Several ladies from Minden enjoyed the bus trip to the Festival of Lights in Niagara Falls, New York last weekend. They took in several shows including Tommy Hunter and Charlie Pride in Concert.

Monday afternoon euchre game winners at St. Paul's included, for most lone hands, Marie Dennie (who was also celebrating a birthday), Betty Hardy, Verna McDonald and Norah Briggs with Iris again lucky to draw her own name.

Minden Legion Seniors held their weekly Tuesday euchre games on November 23 with winners including Mary Wilson, Roy McDonald, Gladys

W r u t h and Irene Fuhr who had most lone hands.

The children's Christmas Program at Minden

Bible Church will be held on Thursday, December 2 at 6:30 p.m. with everyone welcome.

Club 35 euchre game winners for November 22 included Jean Scadden with most lone hands (and also the 50-50 draw), Jean Hewitt and Cliff Woolner, high lady and man, Helen Lee, Ivan Kernohan and Loretta Lamb. Special awards went to Eleanor Bunker, Ray Brown and Ivan Kernohan. The next wheels to meals dinner will be held December 7.

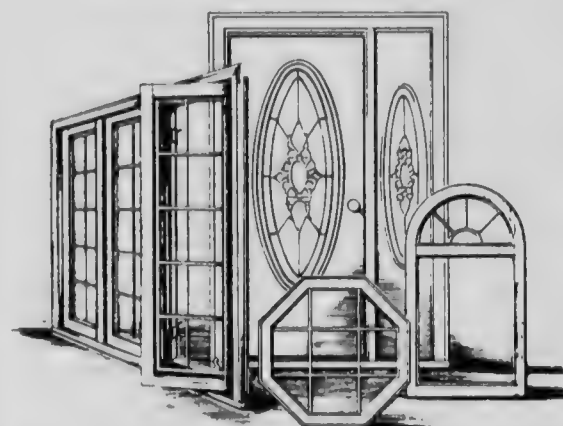

Stanhope Centre Tuesday afternoon bridge games were held on November 23 with winners being Pearl Foster, Helen Rice and Thelda Weston. This is a fun group and the games are held each week at 1 p.m. and no partners are required.

We learned that May Anne Jordens, formerly of Wilberforce, won the title of Miss Metropolitan Toronto and will go on to compete in a Canadian title and with a win may compete in the Miss Universe Contest. Her mother, Pat, hopes to be there cheering her on in Edmonton and also can tell people just where Wilberforce is! Congratulations May Anne.

November 23 the euchre games were held at Lochlin Centre with ten tables playing and the winners for most lone hands were Lorna Bridgman and Audrey Vick. Others were Ralph Schroter and Gerald Hicks. Next games at Lochlin will be held December 14 starting at 7:30 p.m.
